CENTRAL TRIUMPHS OVER FRESHMEN

Washington Boys Beat the Princetonians 6 to 1.

CUNNINGHAM IN FORM

With Perfect Support He Would Have Shut the Tigers Out.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 27.—Central High School scored its greatest triumph of the season here yesterday by defeating Princeton Freshmen, by 6 to 1. The Washington boys took the lead in the fourth inning and were never headed. Captain Cunningham was on the slab for the visitors and pitched one of the best games of his career. Up to the last inning he did not allow a Tiger to look the counting block.

Barely Beat Throw.

In that season a squeeze play barely enabled Fish to beat Cunningham's throw to the plate. This run came as the result of Kipp's wide throw to first. With perfect support Cunny would have shut the opposing team out.

In the sixth inning Central batted Garrett hard, and sidewheeler W. Clark was sent in to stem the batting-bee. He succeeded, but his appearance on the slab was too late to save his team from defeat.

The Central players are the guests of the Prince Elm Club, and the Tiger Inn, composed of college students.

The Score.

HEAVY BATTING BY THE COLUMBIAS

Made Twenty-three Hits Off Berry and Webster and Beat St. Joseph's by 24 to 3.

In the most one-sided game played in the Capital City League this season the Columbia Athletic Club yesterday defeated St. Joseph's by 24 to 3. St. Joseph's never had a look-in, while the Columbias batted at will, copping twenty-three hits, including three home runs and two singles.

The Score.

	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.
Columbia	24	31	8	3	8
St. Joseph's	3	7	13	8	6

First base on balls—Off Berry, 4; off Webster, 2. Home runs—Fulcher, 1; Babson, 1. Three-base hit—Handbook, 1. Double—Curtain, 1. Double play—Duffey, 1. Wild pitch—Berry, 1. Umpire—Mr. Handbook. Time of game—1 hour and 20 minutes.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Columbia practically presented St. Joseph's with its three tallies. The winners stole thirteen bases off Curtin and Sutton, while only three were able to get down off Hoyle. Mullen played an excellent game at second for the Columbias, accepting seven chances without a slip-up. Wilson had a gala day. In addition to making four hits and as many runs, he stole four bases. Taylor and Wilson each got four hits and Fulcher, Waple, and Babson bumped the leather for a home run apiece. All previous records were broken in a game in Iowa the other day when according to a Iowa correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald, Grinnell's pitcher struck out five Iowa University men in the first inning, but the Hawk-eyes managed to score four runs. A man who can strike out five batters in one inning is all right.

Long Tom Hughes Held Browns to Three Hits

Without Stahl Nationals Break Losing Streak. Connolly's Umpiring Was Poor—Put Jake Out for Disputing Decision—Notes.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 27.—Mr. Connolly, the contrary notwithstanding, the Nationals became naughty again yesterday and beat St. Louis by 4 to 2.

In the arbitration line Connolly was about as successful as the arbitration boards created by State Legislatures to the present time there have been no wires calling him to settle the Chicago trouble. His eyes were dim, but his ears were cocked forward all the time, and while he could not see if a man were safe he could hear a mumbled imprecation from the players' bench to the box. This development of the sense of hearing as the eyes fail is quite common, but it was so marked in Connolly yesterday that he should be corralled and put in alcohol in the interests of science. So bad was the work of the alleged arbitrator that he was loudly booed by the St. Louis elite in the grandstand, while the great unwashed in the bleachers emitted many loud squawks of infinite disgust. When a home crowd is constantly letting out whoops because of the raw deal handed the visitors, it may be said that the umpire is surely on the blitz.

Stahl Goes Out.

Jake Stahl got the worst deal. Not only was our boy manager called out when everybody thought he was safe, but when Jake would have speech concerning the matter he was fired from the game. It was the first firing, after Stahl had singled and stolen second, that Connolly astonished the audience by calling him out. The manager tried to explain that he had been safe, but the umpire wanted to be real strong with himself, and it was a case of exit U. L. E. to roars of the angry mob. Many of those present were there especially to see Stahl perform, and did not take kindly to his punishment. They protested loudly and Connolly became rattled. Just to show how strong he was, he paused occasionally to call the Nationals down for coaching from the bench, and would threaten to make it a case of Excent Omnes if they did not keep quiet.

In the fifth round, after two out, Stone attempted to steal second. He was caught so clearly that the St. Louis player trotted out upon the field and the Nationals had come half way to the bench when everybody was dazed by hearing Connolly declare Stone safe. The Nationals had come half way to the bench when everybody was dazed by hearing Connolly declare Stone safe.

Poor Decision.

Huelsman rapped out a double in the eighth round and tried to stretch it into a triple. The consensus of opinion was that he got there, but Connolly again jarred all hands by declaring him out.

Of balls and strikes he was just as much off color. Men threw down their bats, thinking they had fanned, only to find they had drawn a pass. While others they heard gleeful shouts over supposed transportation changed into speechless amazement when a wild one was called as a strike. I am not much of a hand to roast umpires, and this conservatism would be increased by the fact that the Washington won out. Connolly was so far off yesterday that he demanded respect for his position.

Scored in Second.

St. Louis got a run in the second inning on an error by Mullen, wild pitch, error by Nill and double steal by Wallace and Rockenfield. The second tally came in the fifth round on a hit by Gleason, error by Hughes on Weaver's hot one, and Stone's drive, forcing Weaver.

It Might Have Been Thought that After losing four straight games in Chicago

the Nationals would be discouraged, but they showed their mettle in the sixth inning. A double by Hughes, single by Jones, pass to Hill, force by Mullen, and single by Huelsman netted two runs. Charley Jones opened the eighth inning with a hit, and was sacrificed by Hill. Mullen drove to Buchanan, who made a woman's throw to third to catch Jones, and that athlete scored. Mullen went to second in the excitement and romped in on Huelsman's double. The big leftfielder was headed off at third on the doubtful decision, Koehler throwing to Wallace, who relayed to Gleason.

The Score.

	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.
Nats.	4	11	11	1	0
St. Louis	2	10	11	1	0

*Batted for Weaver in ninth.

	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.
Washington	4	11	11	1	0
St. Louis	2	10	11	1	0

Two-base hits—Hughes and Huelsman. Sacrifice hits—Gleason and Hill. 2 Stolen bases—Wallace, Stone, Koehler, 2, and Hughes. Hit by pitcher—By Hughes, 3. Wild pitch—Hughes. Bases on balls—Off Sudhoff, 3. Hits—Off Sudhoff, 4 in six innings; off Buchanan, 3 in three innings. Left on bases—St. Louis, 6; Washington, 4. Umpire—Mr. Connolly. Time of game—1 hour and 45 minutes.

NOTES OF THE NOTABLES.

This timely hitting was a feature of all the early victories. May it continue. Much of this confidence was due to Hughes, who openly proclaimed he would have no trouble in winning as he had always been successful against St. Louis. He let the Browns down with two hits and made good his boast.

Stone's catch of Cassidy in the sixth inning was a phenomenon. One-hand spear after a high backward leap. The St. Louis fans are much taken with Stone's work in all departments. He should have belonged to Washington.

Hill made a jumping one-hand catch off Buchanan in the seventh and hit the ball back toward Stone, Koehler, 2, and Hughes. Hit by pitcher—By Hughes, 3. Wild pitch—Hughes. Bases on balls—Off Sudhoff, 3. Hits—Off Sudhoff, 4 in six innings; off Buchanan, 3 in three innings. Left on bases—St. Louis, 6; Washington, 4. Umpire—Mr. Connolly. Time of game—1 hour and 45 minutes.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Patterson acquired the talking habit and kept up a heavy fire of rhetorical bombshells. The Warriors were not on easy street at any stage of the game. It was the fifth straight defeat for Justice. Beckett Brothers' battery reversed ends.

CHEYV CHASE TOURNNEY WON BY MISS OLIVER

Miss Oliver won the ladies' golf championship of Chevy Chase from Mrs. McCammon in the seventh round. It was like Stone's and almost as good. Surden had his fingers bent in the fourth session and was succeeded by Weaver. The youngster has none of the appearance of a catcher. He is tall and ungainly and so long-legged that he has been named "Scissors." He and Sudhoff had a conference and the pitcher had to stand on his toes to reach the ear of his battery mate.

Buchanan, who had been tried only once before in a league game, and then with disastrous results, pitched the last three innings for St. Louis. The two hits off him were bunched and helped to the fourth winning run. Mullen was not accustomed to first base, and had Stahl been there St. Louis might have been shut out.

Nill's error was made while covering first on a bunt and was excusable.

Two race tracks with free gates and each decision each day are hurting the attendance at the St. Louis ball park.

SLUGGING MATCH IN DEPARTMENTAL

War Defeated Justice by 12 to 10. Slippery Ball Responsible for Many Errors.

War Department team defeated Department of Justice by 12 to 10 at the White Lot yesterday afternoon. Both teams pounded the ball around the field without difficulty, but the closeness of the score throughout kept the excitement at a high pitch.

The Score.

	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.
War	12	19	2	0	0
Justice	10	11	1	0	0

First base by errors—War, 8; Justice, 2. Left on bases—War, 6; Justice, 8. First base on balls—Off Finnegan, 3; off C. Beckett, 4. Innings pitched—By C. Beckett, 6; by H. Beckett, 1. Hits made—Off C. #### NOTES OF THE GAME.

Finnegan received plenty of coaching from the side lines. The slight drizzle did not stop the game, but the ball became so slippery that wild pitches and errors were frequent occurrences.

Patterson acquired the talking habit and kept up a heavy fire of rhetorical bombshells. The Warriors were not on easy street at any stage of the game. It was the fifth straight defeat for Justice. Beckett Brothers' battery reversed ends.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Erwin, the stalwart, was again behind the bat for Mt. Vernon and played his usual good game. King also gave six bases on balls, and in addition was found for ten hits, but his team had gained such a lead that it did not matter.

There were many spectators present notwithstanding there was a drizzling rain.

FAILURE TO WARM UP LOST FOR BAPTISTS

Zirkle Went in Box With a Cold Arm and Mt. Vernon Batted Him for Six Runs.
